AVI BioPharma Announces Increase in Exchange Ratios
For eXegenics Capital Stock and Extends Expiration Date to Aug. 29, 2003

PORTLAND, Ore.—Aug. 11, 2003—AVI BioPharma, Inc. (Nasdaq: AVII, AVIIV, AVIIZ) announced today that it has amended the terms of its offer to exchange shares of common stock of AVI for shares of common stock and preferred stock of eXegenics, Inc., as previously announced July 25, 2003, and has extended the exchange offer to Aug. 29, 2003.

Under the terms of the amended offer, AVI, through a wholly owned subsidiary, is offering to exchange 0.123 of a share of AVI common stock for each share of eXegenics common stock, and 0.185 of a share of AVI common stock for each share of eXegenics preferred stock. These exchange ratios represent an increase of approximately 20 percent over the corresponding exchange ratios previously announced. According to Denis R. Burger, Ph.D., AVI's chief executive officer: "We believe the transaction is particularly attractive with the increase in the exchange ratios. The current value of the consideration offered for shares of eXegenics common stock represents a significant premium over the current market value of eXegenics common stock."

The exchange offer is subject to various conditions, including the tendering of at least a majority of the shares of eXegenics capital stock in the exchange offer. The changes in the terms of the offer will be reflected in a revised prospectus that AVI will file with the SEC and distribute to eXegenics' stockholders on or before Aug. 15.

Stockholders who have validly tendered their shares of eXegenics common stock or eXegenics preferred stock need take no further action. Other stockholders who want to tender their shares of eXegenics common stock or eXegenics preferred stock must do so no later than midnight, New York City time, Friday, Aug. 29, the extended expiration date for the exchange offer. Stockholders may withdraw any shares of eXegenics common stock or eXegenics preferred stock tendered, including any shares previously tendered, until the expiration date of the exchange offer.

As of midnight, New York City time, Thursday, Aug. 7, approximately 134,972 shares of eXegenics common stock, or approximately 0.86 percent of the 16,184,486 shares of eXegenics common stock outstanding, have been tendered, and no shares of eXegenics preferred stock have been tendered.

In addition, AVI announced the retention of MacKenzie Partners, Inc., to act as the information agent in connection with the exchange offer. In this capacity, MacKenzie Partners may contact holders of eXegenics capital stock and may request brokers, dealers, banks, trust companies and other nominees to forward materials relating to the exchange offer to holders of eXegenics capital stock. MacKenzie Partners will receive reasonable and customary compensation for its services, will be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses and will be indemnified against certain liabilities in connection with its actions as information agent, including certain liabilities under the U.S. federal securities laws.

About eXegenics
